

Report - Master of International Health (Peter Harris)

Synopsis

- a review of current offerings was undertaken and feedback sought from key stakeholders
- whilst there was broad-based interest in the proposal, there was concern about the potential for conflict with existing and proposed programmes
- given the existing expertise within the U21 group, there is potential to develop an entry-level certificate qualification in health informatics (complementary to the e-health initiative)
- 'the way ahead' establish a working group with an educational focus; develop a business plan defining the target audience and the potential for sponsorship
